

ABSTRACT

Implementation of the present system takes place in association with a computer device that is used to obtain and process data. In particular, implementation of the present system embraces the ability to query a management framework for any data. In at least one
5 implementation, the querying occurs down to the specific requests for performance of the talents in the system, and results are returned that provide a viewable report. Accordingly, the systems and processes include the obtaining of information all the way down to talents and the receiving of a report all in the same management framework.

10 ::ODMA\PCDOCS\DOCS\676684\2